

Economic Policy Forum (EPF)

PARTICIPANTS

Think Week

Sustainable Infrastructure Development – Challenges and Opportunities for Emerging Economies

Beijing, 2-5 November 2015

EMSD
EMERGING MARKET
SUSTAINABILITY DIALOGUES

EPF ECONOMIC POLICY FORUM
Emerging Economies
Think Tank Alliance for High Quality Growth

Participants

I. Bangladesh	3
Wajid Hasan SHAH.....	3
II. Brazil	3
Paulo D. BRANCO.....	3
III. China	4
CHANG Jiwen.....	4
HE Dongni.....	4
LIN Yongliang.....	5
SONG Hong.....	5
TIAN Huifang.....	5
WANG Wen.....	6
ZHANG Jianping.....	6
ZHANG Wencai	7
ZHOU Xiaolin	7
ZHU Shouqing.....	8
IV. Germany	8
Rolf J. LANGHAMMER.....	8
Tobias SCHMIDT	9
V. India	9
Rajni BAKSHI.....	9
Shubh SONI	10
VI. Mexico	10
Ana Paula FERNÁNDEZ.....	10
Jorge RAMIREZ	11
VII. Singapore	11
Hardik Sanjay SHAH.....	11
VIII. South Africa	12
Emmanuel OWUSU-SEKYERE	12
IX. Switzerland	12
Mariana H. SILVA.....	12
X. Turkey	13
Yüksel GÖRMEZ.....	13
Feride INAN	13

XI. USA.....	14
Christopher BEHR.....	14
Amar BHATTACHARYA.....	14
Cristina CONTRERAS Casado.....	15
Christopher JAMES.....	15
XII. GIZ	16
Oliver AUGE	16
Philipp KRUSCHEL	16
Daniel TARAS	17
Antje UHLIG	17

I. Bangladesh

Wajid Hasan SHAH

Research Fellow, Bangladesh Institute for Development Studies (BIDS)

Wajid Hasan Shah is a Research Fellow with the Industry and Physical Infrastructure Division at the BIDS, where he joined in 2001. His areas of research have evolved around investments, finance & banking, infrastructure, the capital market, gender, transport, labor, NGOs, health and nutrition.

Mr. Shah has over 17 years of work experience in Bangladesh. In this time he has consulted for the World Bank, the International Finance Corporation, the International Food Policy Research Institute, the International Labor Organization, the United Nations Development Program, and other international organizations and had also received a grant from the Innovations for Poverty Action under a Partnership Development Grant of the Asian Development Bank to conduct the first study on SME loan default among small entrepreneurs in Bangladesh.

II. Brazil

Paulo D. BRANCO

Vice Director, Center for Sustainability Studies (GVces) of the Business Administration School of Fundação Getúlio Vargas (FGV-EAESP)

Mr. Paulo Branco holds a Master degree in Business Administration with a specialization in information systems from the Pontifical Catholic University (PUC) of Rio de Janeiro. He was a Professor for undergraduate and graduate studies at the Department of Administration at PUC and for the MBA in Business Management from the Fundação Getulio Vargas (FGV-RJ).

Mr. Branco also served as an Executive in the areas of organizational development and business management and worked as a consultant in management development programs with private and public companies of various Brazilian states. He is a founding partner of Ekobé, a corporate sustainability consulting firm, which has contributed to the integration of sustainable development principles and practices in several national and multinational companies as well as in the value chain of different sectors.

III. China

CHANG Jiwen

Deputy Director General, Institute for Resource and Environmental Policy Studies at the Development Research Center of the State Council (DRC)

Professor Chang Jiwen's current research fields at the DRC are policy and law of resources and environmental protection, animal protection, safety production and social security. Prior to this he served as Vice-Director and later Director of the Social Law Research Office at the Institute of Law of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences from 2006 to 2010 and he was Vice-Director at the Beijing Administration of Work Safety from 2010 to 2013.

Prof. Chang holds a Ph.D. in Law from the Wuhan University and has been a visiting scholar at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law in Germany, at the School of Law in Temple University and at the School of Law in Columbia University.

He has also been engaged in lawmaking and national documents drafting, e.g. concerning the Laws on Addressing Climate Change, Ecology Compensation, Prevention and Control of Atmospheric Pollution as well as Prevention and Control of Environmental Noise Pollution.

HE Dongni

Vice President and Director of Center for International Economy, China Institute for Reform and Development (CIRD)

Ms. He Dongni received her B.A. in Economics from Xiamen University and the M.A. in Political Economics from Nankai University. She also obtained a MBA from the Maastricht School of Management and has been a Ph.D. candidate in Management Science and Engineering at Northeast University. She was Assistant Researcher of the Center for Public Policies and the Center for Hainan Reform and Development, Vice Director of the Center for Emerging Economies, Associate Research Fellow of the Center for Economics and assistant president of CIRD.

Ms. He participated in many of CIRD's important research programmes since 2006 including Policy Research on equalization of Basic Public Services during the Twelfth Five-year Plan period, Goals and Missions of Economic Reform during the 13th Five-year Plan Period, Research on the Path to Transition of Economic Growth Pattern in China and Co-editor of CIRD's annual reform report of A Decisive Choice to Advance Economic Transition. She has published articles mostly in China's leading academic journals and newspapers.

LIN Yongliang

Research Fellow, China Center for Contemporary World Studies (CCCWS)

Dr. Lin Yongliang holds a Ph.D. in International Politics and he is an Associate Research Fellow at the China Center for Contemporary World Studies. His research fields include East Asian International Relations, China's Diplomacy and China's involvement in Global Governance.

SONG Hong

Assistant Director and Senior Fellow, Institute of World Economics and Politics (IWEP), Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS)

Mr. Song Hong currently is Director of the International Trade Research Division at IWEP in CASS. His research fields include Foreign Direct Investment, Transnational Corporations and the Industrial Development of Developing Economies. He joined the CASS in 1997, prior to that he worked at the Shanxi Academy of Social Sciences in Xi'an.

Mr. Song holds a Bachelor degree in Philosophy from the Northwestern University in Xi'an, a Master degree in Economics from the Fudan University in Shanghai, a Ph.D. from Nankai University in Tianjin and was a Visiting Scholar at the East Asian Institute of Columbia University in New York.

TIAN Huifang

Senior Research Fellow, Institute of World Economics and Politics at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS)

Ms. Tian Huifang's current field of work concerns environmental and development economics. She has been a Research Fellow at the Institute since 2005, doing independent research projects and also assisting the director in the field of environmental economics and the economics of development.

Prior to this, she has been a visiting scholar at the University of Gothenburg in Sweden and to universities in Canada. At the University of Western Ontario she cooperated with Professor John Whalley in the research project that focuses on climate changes and China's participation in international global negotiation.

WANG Wen

Executive Dean, Chongyang Institute for Financial Studies at the Renmin University of China (RDCY)

Dr. Wang Wen also holds office as Standing Director of World Socialism Research at the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, columnist at Sina Finance and Guancha Syndicate, as well as Special Analyst at the Xinhua News Agency. He has had studying and researching experiences at Lanzhou University, Hong Kong Baptist University, the Johns Hopkins University-Nanjing University, and Peking University.

Upon receiving his Master's degree, Dr. Wang joined Global Times, and worked as reporter, news editor, history editor, chief Op-eds Editor, Editorial Writer and a member on the editorial board. He has translated, co-edited and independently written thirteen books. Leaving the media sector in early 2013, Dr. Wang was instrumental in the establishment of the Chongyang Institute for Financial Studies at the Renmin University of China.

ZHANG Jianping

Director, Department of International Economic Cooperation of the Institute for International Economic Research at the National Development Reform Commission (NDRC)

Professor Zhang Jianping is currently also a member of the Expert Panel of the Ministry of Commerce and of the State Forestry Administration of the PR China. He is a professor in Economics of the Nankai University and a Ph.D. adviser at the University of International Business and Economics

Furthermore, Prof. Zhang is a member of the China National Committee of the Pacific Economic Cooperation Council, the China Council for the Promotion of International Trade, the Chinese People's Institute of Foreign Affairs and the Chinese Association for International Understanding. He is also the Deputy Secretary of the Asia-Pacific Institute of China.

ZHANG Wencai

Vice President, Asian Development Bank (ADB)

Mr. Zhang Wencai joined ADB in 2013 and is responsible for operations in the South Asia Department and the Central and West Asia Department. Prior to joining ADB, he was the Director General of the Department of External Economic Cooperation at the Ministry of Finance (MoF) of the People's Republic of China. He served as the Deputy Director General for the International Department of the MoF from 2004 to 2012, where he worked with various multilateral initiatives, including the Group of 20, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations+3, and the Asia Pacific Economic Cooperation.

From 2007 to 2009, Mr. Zhang was the Executive Director for China at ADB, where he was the Chairman of the Budget Review Committee and a member of the Development Effectiveness Committee and the Ethics Committee of the Board of Directors. From 1993 to 1996, he was the Advisor to the Executive Director of China at the World Bank in Washington, D.C. Mr. Zhang holds a Ph.D. in Finance from the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences. He earned his Master's Degree and Bachelor's Degree in International Economics from Nan Kai University in Tianjin, PRC.

ZHOU Xiaolin

Research Associate, Chongyang Institute for Financial Studies (RDCY), Renmin University

Mr. Zhou Xiaolin is the G20 Coordination Director and Research Associate of Chongyang Institute for Financial Studies at Renmin University. He holds a Master Degree in International Relations from the Communication University of China, and also a Bachelor of Science in Chemistry from the China University of Petroleum. Before joining RDCY, he worked in the China National Petroleum Corporation for 13 years. Currently he is responsible for the cooperation between RDCY and overseas institutions on G20 area. His principal research fields focus on G20, international relations and economics.

ZHU Shouqing

Senior Associate, World Resources Institute (WRI)

Mr. Zhu Shouqing is a Senior Associate with WRI's Sustainable Finance Program. He leads and coordinates WRI's work related to promoting sustainability in the financial system in China, which focuses on improving the environmental and social performance of Chinese investments, both overseas and domestic.

Prior to joining WRI, Mr. Zhu worked with multinational corporations, national governments, multilateral institutions and non-profit organizations in Asia, Europe, Australia and North America to develop and implement programs in areas of cross-border investment, regional economic development, greenhouse gas management, capacity building, and commercialization of cleantech.

He holds an M.A. degree in World History from Peking University and an M.Phil. degree in Development Studies from the University of Cambridge. He pursued doctoral research in banking regulation and management at the University of Melbourne.

IV. Germany

Rolf J. LANGHAMMER

Former Vice President, Kiel Institute for the World Economy (IfW)

Prof. Dr. Rolf J. Langhammer was Vice-President of the IfW from 1997 to 2012 and Professor at the institute. He retired from the Vice-Presidency, but continues to work at the IfW. From 2003 to 2004, he served as Acting President and from 1995 to 2005 he headed the research department "Development Economics and Global Integration" at the IfW. In addition, he is honorary professor in international economic relations and development economics at the Faculty of Economics, Business Administration and Social Sciences, Kiel University since 1995. He was research division chief at the IfW (since 1978) and research associate at Kiel University after graduating from the same university. He received his doctorate in 1977 and was awarded several research fellowships and visiting professorships abroad.

Prof. Langhammer has served as a consultant to a number of international institutions (EU, World Bank, OECD, UNIDO, ADB), as well as to the German ministries of Economic Affairs and Economic Co-operation. He is a member of the Scientific Advisory Council of the Federal Ministry of Economic Co-operation and Development (BMZ). His research issues cover international trade patterns, trade policies, integration and international capital flows.

Tobias SCHMIDT

Professor, Energy Policy Group, Department of Humanities, Social and Political Sciences, ETH Zurich

Prof. Tobias Schmidt is the head of the Energy Politics group at the Department for Humanities, Social and Political Sciences at ETH Zurich. Tobias holds a B.Sc. and a Dipl. Ing. (MSc equivalent) in electrical engineering (energy focus) from TU Munich and a Ph.D. from ETH Zurich in management, technology, and economics. During his postdoc, he spent time as a visiting scholar at Stanford University's Precourt Energy Efficiency Center and acted as consultant to the United Nations Development Programme working on their De-risking Renewable Energy Investment project.

In his research, which is published in journals like Nature Climate Change, Research Policy, Technological Forecasting and Social Change, Applied Energy, Energy Policy or Climate Policy, he analyses the interaction of energy policy and its underlying politics with technological change in the energy sector. Currently he mainly analyses innovation and diffusion of electricity generation and storage technologies. His research covers both developed and developing countries.

V. India

Rajni BAKSHI

Ghandi Peace Fellow, Gateway House: Indian Council on Global Relations

Ms. Rajni Bakshi is the Gandhi Peace Fellow at Gateway House and a Mumbai-based author and freelance journalist. She holds a B.A. from George Washington University and an M.A. from the University of Rajasthan.

Ms. Bakshi also serves on the Boards of Child Rights and You as well as Citizens for Peace. She is also a member of the Executive Committee of the Gandhi Smriti and Darshan Samiti, an autonomous body under the Ministry of Culture and a long term associate of the Centre of Education and Documentation (in Mumbai and Bangalore). Furthermore she is the author of Bazaars, Conversations and Freedom (2009) and several other books and articles.

Shubh SONI

Research Assistant, Observer Research Foundation (ORF)

Mr. Shubh Soni joined ORF in January 2015. His current focus lies in studying the political-economy that governs India.

Mr. Soni completed his M.Sc. in International Strategy and Economics from the University of St. Andrew's (Scotland) in 2013. During his Master's, his core subjects included New Institution Economics, Development Economics, and Game Theory. His dissertation focused on trends, policies, and determinants of foreign direct investment in India and China. He has previously worked as a Research Analyst on Governance and Public Sector Reforms at IPE Global Private Limited, a leading development consultancy firm based out of New Delhi.

VI. Mexico

Ana Paula FERNÁNDEZ

Chief Sustainability and Institutional Relations Officer, ICA

Besides from working at ICA, the largest construction company in Mexico, Ms. Fernández is currently also serving as Chairwoman in the Sustainability Committee of the Mexican Stock Exchange, as Board Member at the Social Responsibility Commission of the Mexican Construction Chamber and as Board Member at World Vision Mexico.

Ms. Fernández majored in Architecture and holds an MBA from the IPADE Business School in Mexico City. After working in ICA for 18 years, she is widely considered a leader in corporate responsibility.

She has been in the forefront of the challenges of sustainable infrastructure in Latin America. Under her leadership, ICA has positioned itself as one of Mexico's leading companies driving the sustainability agenda. She has participated in many United Nations meetings.

Jorge RAMIREZ

Project Manager, Centro de Investigación para el Desarrollo A.C. (CIDAC)

Mr. Jorge Ramírez' areas of research include economic development, energy and environmental economics. He has published various articles around programs to fight poverty, on subsidies for fossil energy, on the minimum wage and on various other economical topics.

Mr. Ramirez joined the CIDAC in 2014 after serving as Deputy Director of Econometrics and Statistics at the Mexico National Institute of Ecology and Climate Change. Previously he was a consultant on economic issues and participated in the AIESEC Internship Program, working with different NGOs in St. Petersburg, Russia. He holds a Bachelor in Economics from the Mexico Autonomous Institute of Technology.

VII. Singapore

Hardik Sanjay SHAH

Manager, Research Products Department of Sustainalytics

Based in Singapore, Mr. Shah leads a team of ten Analysts spread across Asia, Europe and North America and is responsible for overseeing research, assuring quality and conducting best-of-sector analysis for equities in the Information Technology (IT), Media, Telecom, and Utilities industries. He actively engages with companies and clients on key ESG issues within these industries and he is also involved in writing thought leadership pieces on ESG topics relevant to Asia. In 2015 he led the Channel News Asia Sustainability Ranking project, which identifies and celebrates regional leaders in corporate sustainability across 11 regions in Asia.

Prior to joining Sustainalytics, Mr. Shah was an ESG associate at MSCI Inc. where he primarily covered utilities and mining industries. He has previously also worked at Ernst and Young's climate change and sustainability services team as a senior consultant advising clients on a variety of projects ranging from triple bottom line assessments to environmental due diligences and clean development mechanism advisory projects.

VIII. South Africa

Emmanuel OWUSU-SEKYERE

Senior Research Specialist, Africa Institute of South Africa (AISA), Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC)

Dr. Emmanuel Sekyere is a Senior Research Specialist in the Economic Performance and Development Programme. His areas of research interest include: monetary policy, fiscal policy, inclusive and sustainable growth and development, financial inclusion and remittances to sub-Saharan Africa.

Before joining the HSRC in 2014, Dr. Sekyere was a post-doctoral research fellow and lecturer at the University of Pretoria. Prior to that, he was Consultant Economist at the Financial Sector Division of the Ministry of Finance and Economic Planning in Ghana, where he played a key role in the design and implementation of Ghana's financial sector reform programme

Dr. Sekyere has several publications in accredited journals. His most recent work looks at how sub-Saharan African countries can harness remittances through formal channels for development finance. Other recent work include fiscal decentralization and economic growth in South Africa and Dutch disease effects of oil rents on agriculture value added in MENA countries.

IX. Switzerland

Mariana H. SILVA

Sustainable Finance Officer, International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD)

Ms. Mariana H. Silva advises national governments on policies and instruments of financial capital and financial risk management services in a manner that provides for economic growth, social justice and stewardship of the natural environment.

Prior to joining IISD, Ms. Silva worked in the banking sector as an emerging market economist and interned as a financial data analyst for CNN Hong Kong and for the Central Bank of Mexico, working on inclusive finance for indigenous communities.

Ms. Silva specializes in innovative financial instruments to capitalize local enterprises and green projects in low-income countries. Her expertise in capital markets include fixed income securities and structured products, which the sustainable finance program explores as effective instruments for sustainable economic growth.

X. Turkey

Yüksel GÖRMEZ

Senior Economist, Central Bank of the Republic of Turkey

Dr. Yüksel Görmez graduated from the Economics Department of the Middle East Technical University in Ankara (Turkey) in 1988 and joined the Central Bank of Turkey Markets Department the year after. He holds an MBA in Banking and Finance from the University of Exeter and a Ph.D. from the City University Business School, London.

Dr. Görmez came back to the Markets Department in 2001 and moved to the Research Department to take part in launching the inflation targeting regime in Turkey. He headed the Financial Analysis Division until 2009 when he was assigned as Senior Economist. From 2010 to 2012, he was representing the Central Bank of Turkey in Tokyo. Since 2013, he is in Beijing as the Economic Counsellor for the CBRT with a responsibility to understand the Chinese macro economy. He came back to the CBRT in 2014, but he still follows the developments in China, e.g. those affiliated with Chinese think tanks.

Feride İNAN

Research Associate, The Economic Policy Research Foundation of Turkey (TEPAV)

Ms. Feride İnan holds a B.Sc. in Economics from Columbia University and an M.A. in International Development from the University of Amsterdam. Her dissertation titled “Private Management Education in India: Where to?” is based on the field survey on economic development and tertiary education in India.

Previously, Ms. İnan worked as a research assistant with Kirti Singh, member of the Law Commission of India, and specialized on revising drafts and devising new ones about social policy matters. She also contributed to related meetings and conferences of the United Nations organizations as well as the NGOs of Southeastern Asia.

XI. USA

Christopher BEHR

Principal Economist and Professional Associate, HDR

Mr. Christopher Behr has a background in economics, statistics and engineering from the University of Wisconsin and the Madison and Cornell University. For the past 20 years, he has evaluated the economic, social and environmental aspects of infrastructure investments in the U.S. and abroad. His work spans the transportation, water, energy, and building sectors. Mr. Behr has applied a variety of analytical techniques including financial analysis, cost-benefit analyses, cost-risk analyses, environmental valuation, and statistics. His projects also often include workshops in which he facilitates discussions on topics such as technical engineering solutions and economic forecasts.

Since joining HDR, Mr. Behr has established himself as an expert in evaluating risks to capital projects and assets – some valued in the billions of dollars. He has been a technical and marketing leader in HDR's Sustainable Return on Investment process since its inception.

Amar BHATTACHARYA

Senior Fellow, Global Economy and Development Program at Brookings Institution

From 2007 to 2014 Mr. Amar Bhattacharya was Director of the Group of 24, an intergovernmental group of developing country Finance Ministers and Central Bank Governors. In that capacity he led the work program of the Group, supported the deliberations of the Ministers, and was the principal point of interface with other organizations including the G20.

Prior to this, Mr. Bhattacharya had a long-standing career in the World Bank. His last position was as Senior Advisor and Head of the International Policy and Partnership Group, serving as the focal point for the Bank's engagement with key international groupings and institutions such as the G7/G8, G20, IMF, OECD and the Commonwealth Secretariat.

Mr. Bhattacharya's current focus areas are the global economy, development finance, global governance, and the links between climate and development. He has had a long standing engagement in research and policy discussions on the global economy and spillovers, international financial architecture, development financing and the global governance agenda including on the role and reform of the international financial institutions.

Cristina CONTRERAS Casado

Research Associate, ZOFNASS Program for Sustainable Infrastructure, Harvard University

Cristina Contreras currently coordinates and supervises the assessment of large-scale infrastructure projects for the 360° Awards research initiative sponsored by the Inter-American Development Bank. Her work focuses on promoting sustainable practices in infrastructure projects on a global scale, examining and exploring the challenges and opportunities that sustainability can provide to countries and companies.

Before coming to Harvard, Ms. Contreras worked in a large-scale infrastructure construction project with Dragados S.A. in Spain, as an independent professional, and she has presented her work on assessing sustainable infrastructure at several international conferences. Ms. Contreras is an accredited Envision Sustainability Professional and a certified Envision Trainer by the Institute of Sustainable Infrastructure in Washington DC. She holds a Diploma in Technical Architecture and Building Engineering, both from the Polytechnic University of Madrid, as well as a Professional Graduate Certificate in Corporate Sustainability and Innovation from Harvard University.

Christopher JAMES

Principal, Regulatory Assistance Project (RAP), China and U.S. Programs

Mr. Christopher James advises regulators, advocates, and businesses on how to reduce greenhouse gas, criteria, and toxic pollutants to meet existing and new air standards, improve water quality, and protect consumers. His projects span the areas of air quality, energy efficiency, distributed resources, demand response, and linking energy and the environment in air quality and energy planning processes. Recent projects include working with national- and provincial-level air agencies in China to develop plans to implement the State Council requirements to improve ambient air quality 25 percent by 2017, and with the United States Environmental Protection Agency and state air regulators to develop strategies to reduce greenhouse gas and criteria pollutant emissions from the power sector.

Prior to joining RAP, Mr. James was director of air planning and manager of climate change and energy programs for the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, where he served as staff lead for the state’s participation in the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative.

XII. GIZ

Oliver AUGE

Country Director China and GIZ General Representative, Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH

Mr. Oliver Auge joined the GIZ in 1984. He is a fully qualified lawyer and he worked in Eschborn (Germany) in the legal department of what was then the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Technische Zusammenarbeit (GTZ). From 1991 to 1994, he worked as GTZ Office Director in Kathmandu (Nepal) and from later he held the same position in Jakarta (Indonesia). Between 2000 and 2003, he was responsible for the Human Resources Policy and Development Division in Eschborn. Subsequently, he took charge of the Center for International Migration and Development (CIM), a joint operation between GTZ and the German Federal Employment Agency, and was also Director of GTZ’s CIM Unit.

During the restructuring process of the GIZ from the GTZ, Oliver Auge was first Head of the Task Force on the Technical Cooperation Reform and then on GIZ’s Integration Team. From 2011 until 2013, he was in charge of the German Public Sector Clients Unit. Following this position until his appointment as Country Director to China in January 2015 he was head of the Business Unit for Industrialized Countries.

Philipp KRUSCHEL

Executive Director, Emerging Market Multinationals (EMM) Network for Sustainability, GIZ China

Mr. Philipp Kruschel is the Executive Director of the Emerging Market Multinationals Network of Sustainability as well as Deputy Programme Director of the Emerging Market Sustainability Dialogues Programme at GIZ. His previous positions during more than 8 years at GIZ include a Senior Advisor role in the business unit for global partnerships and emerging economies in Berlin, the management of a trade programme in Nepal and sustainable economic development work in Uganda.

Mr. Kruschel has extensive work experience in development at various UN organizations, the World Bank and several German Federal Ministries as well as in the private sector. He holds an M.A. in Economics from Tufts University as well as an M.A. in International Relations from the Free University Berlin. Together with his family he lives in Beijing, China.

Daniel TARAS

Executive Director, Emerging Market Sustainability Dialogues (EMSD), Economic Policy Forum (EPF), GIZ Germany

Mr. Daniel Taras heads the EMSD Programme and also serves as the Executive Director of EPF. Prior to his current role he was head of section within GIZ's global partnerships and emerging economies unit and worked as a long-term advisor on corporate social responsibility in China and on private sector development in Laos. He started his career as a strategic management consultant, investment banker and financial sector economist in London, UK. Besides, he has worked, lived and travelled in a number of Asian, African, and Latin American countries.

Daniel holds a B.Sc. in Economics from the London School of Economics, an M.Sc. in Development Finance from the School of Oriental and African Studies, and an M.Phil. from Cambridge University, specializing in Chinese economy and management, which included studies at Peking University's Guanghua School of Management. He is also an alumnus of the German Development Institute.

Antje UHLIG

Co-Director and Senior Advisor, Economic Policy Forum (EPF), GIZ Germany

Ms. Antje Uhlig is Co-Director of the Economic Policy Forum (EPF) at the Emerging Market Dialogues Program of Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ). Her focus is on topics of sustainable economic growth, climate actions, energy and resources management, working with partner institutions primarily in emerging economies and OECD countries within the EPF.

Prior to her current role, Ms. Uhlig worked as a strategic consultant and expert with the Observer Research Foundation (ORF), a prominent public policy think tank in Delhi, where she was in charge forging new institutional partnerships for ORF with policy institutes in Europe and the US with focus on energy efficiency, sustainable and inclusive (urban) development, corporate social responsibility. Ms. Uhlig holds an M.A. in International Politics and Economics from the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies in Washington D.C. She is also an alumna of the London School of Economics' Executive Summer School.